Early Years

Find three pictures in a magazine cut them out and write a story that links the pictures. Use your imagination you never know what you will come up with. Develop a scrap book of the stories you write. You can revisit the book throughout the year during bedtime reading.

Middle Years

Students who have a broad knowledge of current affairs appear to perform better in school. Find an interesting article in a magazine, newspaper or online. Everyone reads the article, then the family has a discussion. You might like to think about the following: Why did this article interest you? Was this an opinion piece or was it presenting facts? Was it a human interest story? Did you agree with the article why, why not?
